

KAROZAS ENTERTAINMENT presents:

NIKOS VERTIS LIVE AT THE HAMMERSMITH APOLLO on Saturday January 17th 2009

NIKOS VERTIS has, within the last 5 years, grown to be one of the biggest names in the Greek music industry. Signed to Universal in 2003 he released his debut album to high acclaim, winning the 'Arion Awards' the same year for 'Best New Artist'.

In the following year, 2004, he was again nominated in the category of 'Best Male Modern Singer' and was highly successful singing in the biggest clubs in Athens the same year. In the summer of 2005 he released possibly the most played song in that year 'Pes To Mou Ksana' (Tell me again) which won him a Platinum award.

Since then he has had a string of hits including 'Pos Perno Ta vradia Monos' (How do I pass my evenings alone), 'Mono Yia Sena' (Only for you) and 'Matia Mou Glyka' (My sweet eyes) which all became instant hits both here in London and in Greece simultaneously.

At present VERTIS is one of the most sought after singers and is at the high point in his career touring Australia, North America, Canada and Europe. His presence here in London is awaited with a mixture of expectation at his 3 hour show at the Apollo, Hammersmith, which includes a 25 piece band.

This is will be one of the best Greek shows ever to be seen in London and not to be missed if you like modern, entertaining Greek music at its best!
